A YEAR OF CHALLENGES

Once we were little and the whole world seemed a challenge.

Now we are bigger,
but as we have grown so too has the size of the challenges.

We have survived the challenges of winter snowstorms, flu epidemics, spring fever, and senioritis.

We have overcome fuel shortages, parking shortages and sleep shortages.

We have survived shifts, exams, twenty-five minute lunch periods, and Mr. Heaney's announcements.

In the midst of winter
I finally learned
That there was in me an invincible summer
— Albert Camus

Faced with the challenges of overcrowding and relating to our new "temporary" buildings, we have somehow managed to build some permanent relationships with friends who were once mere faces in the crowd.

We have weathered all the storms and have become something more than mere individuals.

We have become the class of '78.

Student Body in High Spirits for Spirit Week

As the annual Homecoming approached, Northerners showed their spirit through vast and varied activities. Monday, October 24th offered the opportunity for freshman, sophomores, and juniors, as well as seniors, to show class unity by donning their class colors. By contrast, Crazy T-Shirt Day allowed students to show their individuality. As was discovered, some Northerners were much more individual than others. Even habitually conservative teachers managed to break through their shells. Nostalgic interest was added to the festivities when Northern displayed its version of the 50's. Poodle skirts and bobbie socks, greased hair and leather jackets were worn throughout the building. Mourners Day had its share of tears as the student body solemnly mourned for our doomed rivals. The grave onlookers dressed in black followed the funeral procession to the soccer field where services were held. The deceased was viewed all day by the main entrance. Friday, students wearing green and white for School Colors Day filled the stands to watch the big game. The entire week was a very exciting one for the student body and staff

Festivities Abound on Viking Day

The climax of this year's Spirit Week came on October 28th, when Viking Day was observed. The day began with the traditional Viking parade, led this year by a motorcycle and police escort, followed by Shaun Dumbrosky and Mark Starr dressed as fearless Vikings, with the S G A. close behind. Next, Mr. David Lane led his band which supplied the marching music, while Mrs. Mosley's cheerful cheer leading squad kept spirits jumping. Everyone awaited the arrival of their class colors and mascot in a spectacular float. Last but not least was the class of 78 float with the Viking Court. The float also contained a live road runner, Diane Suhosky; and a coyote, Charles McCoy, and consisted of a desert scene complete with cacti and a mountain. The parade ended at the football stadium; then the football game began. At halftime, the King, Steve Henson, and Queen, Renee Cartwright, were announced along with the runners-up. Northern won this exciting football game against Mervo by a six to nothing score. The events of the day were topped off by the Victory Dance. The band, Sudden Storm, made the evening one of excitement and enjoyment for Northerners. This year's Viking Day will go down as another treasurable memory for all who participated.

Xmas Spirit Shows

On Sunday, December 18th, Frosty, Rudolph, Santa, and all of their traditional Christmas friends, along with some non-traditional hoboes, magicians and tap dancers, joined together to present the Northern community with another memorable Christmas Variety show. Although the tryouts for the program were light, Mr. Thomas Petr was able to find talented Northerners to continue the tradition of creative and enjoyable Christmas programs. In addition to the talented actors in the show, Mrs. Norma Perrillio's vocal vikings supplies a large part of the program. The band, under the direction of Mr. David Lane, was also instrumental in making the show a success. The program truly presented something for everyone. In addition to all of the songs, dances and humorous skits, there were the serious moments, such as The "Christmas Tablue" which included the manger scene; and the singing of "Silent Night" and "What Child Is This?" It was, of course, especially a day for the youngsters. The children were delighted with Frosty the snowman, the dancing bear, Raggedy Ann and Andy, and all of the dancing elves, robots and toy soldiers. The highlight of the day for the children in the audience was a chance to come on stage and meet Santa Claus. Thanks to a lot of hard work by the cast and Mr. Petr, Mrs. Perrillio, and Mr. Lane, the Christmas Program seemed once again this year to capture the special spirit and feeling of Christmas

Honor Society Adds 25

One of the more select groups around Northern High School is the National Honor Society. Only students who earned the appropriate scholastic average, were recommended by their teachers and fulfilled the requirements of service, character, scholarship, and leadership were eligible to join. On April 24th, twenty-five special Northern seniors were inducted into the Honor Society. After a welcoming speech by Laura Taschenberg, the induction ceremony included the traditional candle lighting by Jin Ro and speeches by Peggy Peters and Denise Gladden. Congratulations were then offered to the new Honor Society members and their parents and friends by principal Richard I. Doak and Honor Society advisor, Miss Jane Vandora. After the ceremony, refreshments were served by next year's nominees. Although the night's events lasted only a few hours, the special honor earned by the new members and their parents was an accomplishment they could always be proud of.

Northern Students Give of Themselves

The Red Cross Blood Assurance Program is an annual event sponsored by the Student Government Association and Mr. Barry Woolf's Biology II students. The Red Cross assures the availability of blood to each of Northern's students and their immediate families for a full year because 184 students, along with teachers, gave blood on May 4th. Many more people were turned down by the Red Cross for various reasons. These reasons included high temperatures, high blood pressure, or the lack of iron in the blood. The gym was crowded all day with donors, Red Cross volunteers, and the canteen, which supplied refreshments for everyone. Students patiently went from line to line and finally to the table. After the nurses had someone on the table, there was no turning back. In seven to fifteen minutes, it was all over. The Red Cross had a pint of blood but the person who gave the gift of life had the satisfaction of knowing he shared an important part of himself to help another.

Northern's Band: We Are the Music

Starting the year with the theme "We Are the Music," Northern's band, under the direction of Mr. David Lane, proved that it was indeed the music, as it inspired audiences and added life and warmth to Northern's programs. On the home-front, the band performed for Homecoming, the Christmas Program, Awards Night and Graduation. Northern's band of Vikings also ventured into the community. They travelled to Waxter Center to perform at the flag pole dedication and to Morgan State University. Their schedule of entertainment also included junior high schools such as Woodbourne and Hamilton, and Woodhome Elementary School. Wherever they travelled, far or near, the band was thoroughly enjoyed. The combining of many years of experience and beginners' enthusiasm, plus a general desire for perfection, resulted in a terrific band.

Vikes Get Involved

On at least three occasions this year, Northerners became involved with their community through speakers and projects. The first of these involved the Social Studies department which presented Officer Wiley, who, as part of the Police Awareness Program, came to school to answer questions and give his perspective on the relationship between teenagers and the police. Although many students were initially skeptical, they seemed ultimately impressed by Officer Wiley's sincerity and concern. A second, and entirely different, kind of project involved a group of Mr. Grintalis' industrial arts students, who participated in the Project Development Contest sponsored by the University of Maryland. The viking group placed third state-wide, and Northern was the only school to win awards in both contest divisions. Outstanding projects included Steve Lewis' train, which he designed himself, then constructed of wood, metal and plastic; Frederick Thompson's airplane; and a unique furnished "water house" of wood, plexi-glass, and plastic created by Tony Palmere, Louis Mann and Peter Karas. Another award winning group of Northerners were the Future Business Leaders of America. Jennifer Hedding won first place in the Business Law segment of the state-wide F.B.L.A. competition and will go to San Francisco for the national finals along with Hope Hudson, who placed first in the city and second in the state in Stenography and Transcription. Listening, speaking and creating, Northerners became involved not only in their school, but also in their city, state and nation

Faculty Can't Win Against WWIN

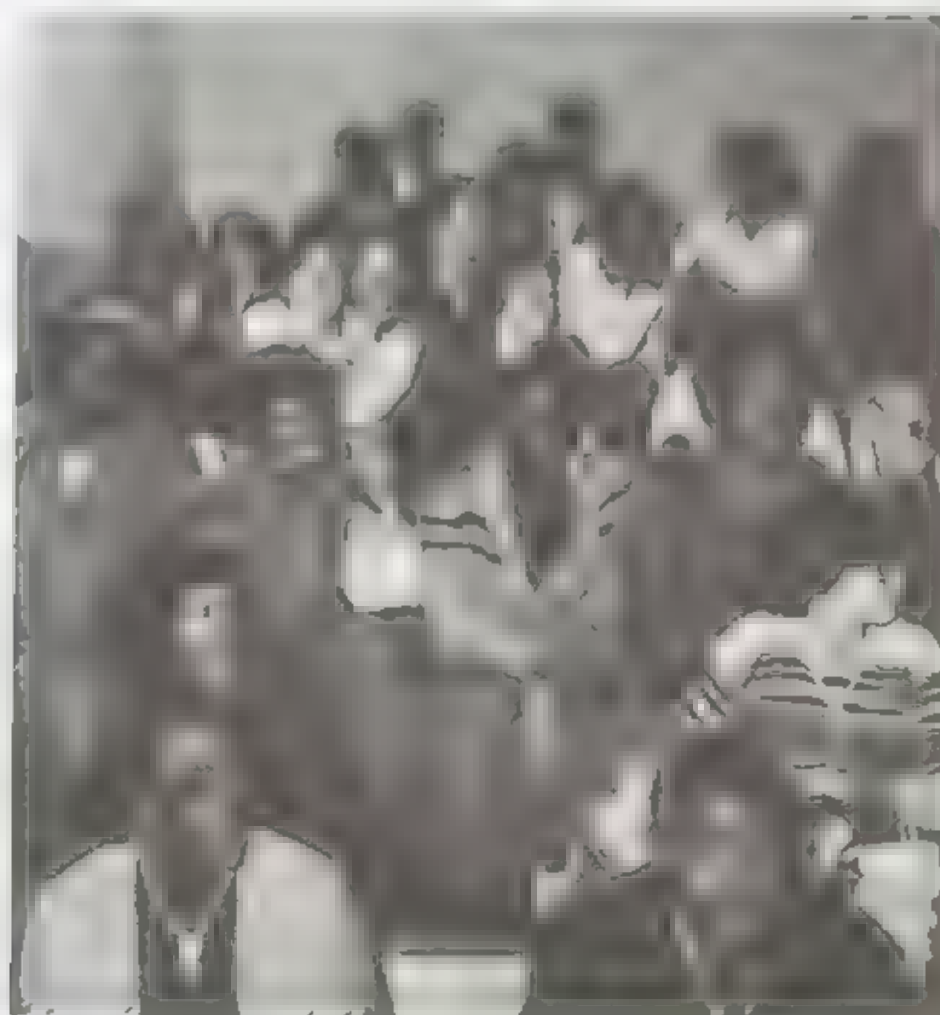

Again this season, Northern's faculty basketball team challenged a team of local media men, and again this year our faculty faltered. This time it was the super jocks of radio station WWIN who defeated our faculty. Despite the play of such standards as Grover Rook, Ken Nichols, Allan Mosley, Josh Bessicks and Joe Voskuhl, and the superb bench of Baker, Blizzard, Lutz and Proctor, the senior vikings lost by a ten point margin. Cheering on the squad were Mrs. Mosley's talented cheerleaders and pep squad. Also entertaining at half time of the game was Northern's modern dance troupe. Although the viking oldsters lost the game, Northern was still a winner, as the proceeds from the game, which attracted a crowd of over 600, were used to purchase new uniforms for the cheerleaders. A lot of hard work by Mrs. Mosley, and WWIN disc jockey Ernie Holmes went into the planning. These two were greatly assisted by the faculty members and cheerleaders who sold tickets and helped with the many organizational tasks involved.

Athletes Honored

On Monday evening, May 22nd some of the many Northern athletes who worked so hard during the season were honored at the annual Varsity Club banquet. The two top honors of the evening went to Arnold Shipman who was voted the Male Athlete of the Year and Jane Weber who won the C. Markland Kelly Jr Award for outstanding service, leadership, and scholarship. Although the evening included the usual round of speeches and a sit-down dinner, the highlights of the evening were clearly the awards presented by Varsity Club advisor Mr. Russ, athletic director Miss Scholwin, Mr. Doak and the various coaches. As in years past the most coveted awards were the Hall of Fame selections for each sport which included for the first time this year a Cheerleader of the Year Award, won by Tamla Stanley. All of Northern's teams were not winners this season, but on the evening of May 22nd a special group of talented and dedicated athletes won the praise they deserved.

Students Display Their Talent in Art

Once again this year, spring brought with it a new crop of young Northern artists who presented their best works at the annual Spring Art Show. Following the format of the last few years, the show included live demonstrations of pottery making, portrait painting, and other artistic endeavors. Two of the more popular artists on display were Diane Suhosky and Kevin Strempek whose drawings attracted the eye of almost all who attended the exhibit. The jewelry of Beth Bartlett also drew a few admiring "oohs" and "aahs." Another favorite stopping-off point for art show visitors was the collection of clay statues ranging from realistic busts to whimsical animals and creatures. The delicate charcoal drawings from Mr. Finifter's art classes also attracted quite a bit of attention. With all media represented, the art show offered something for everyone. What it offered most importantly was a chance for the work of some talented student artists to be seen and appreciated by their classmates.

Northerners Create

Once again students with literary talents were given a chance to practice self-expression through student publications. A hardworking group of students guided by Miss Muriel Ashley set out to collect creative works to be published in Incognito. Deciding which works to publish in the literary-arts magazine was a difficult job because there was not enough room for everything. Incognito finally hit the press in May, but the wait was worthwhile. Another publication for interested Northern writers was You're the Critic, a monthly publication sponsored by the Enoch Pratt Library. Reviews were received from many high schools throughout Baltimore. Representatives Linda Stange and Michelle Bassler went to meetings to enter Northern's reviews and to help decide which reviews to publish in You're the Critic. Interested creative writers were also given the chance to enter various writing contests throughout the year, and at least one Northerner, Angie Riviera, was a winner, as Angie's essay was the regional finalist in the Baltimore's Best Contest. The success of the various writing projects was a tribute not only to the students who contributed the works, but also to the creative students who contributed their valuable time and talent to help produce them.

Cheerleaders Excel

The cheerleaders began the year with the intention of making this their best year ever. With thirty cheerleaders and 68 pep squad members, they were able to cheer for all of Northern's teams. In hopes of relieving the demanding practice hours, the girls were divided into three cheerleading and three pep squad groups. All of the squads were unique and easily recognizable with their own captain and co-captain, distinct uniforms and individual names. There was a Green Squad, a White Squad, and a Viking Squad. Unfortunately, after Homecoming many of the members dropped out, but the remaining girls kept themselves "spirited" and on the go. They sold candles, calendars, and baked goods and sponsored car washes to help raise funds. In the winter, they also sponsored a basketball game. With the money earned, they were able to buy new uniforms for the basketball cheerleaders. As a special honor, the cheerleaders were selected to cheer for the Annual Wiley Daniels Memorial Scholarship Basketball game between channel 13-WJZ and WWIN. Their goal for this year was to prove their equality with other parts of the sports program, and they certainly went a long way toward this end.

Valhalla Staff Carries On

Although this year's Valhalla staff was one of the smallest Mr. Moore has ever worked with, it was able to accomplish as much as the larger staffs. Even though the task was a difficult one, the staff managed to find wall space upon which to artistically express themselves, figure out which of the phones was ringing, and keep Mr. Moore from burning down the yearbook office by forgetting to unplug the coffee pot. Such problems as locating anonymous students and teachers, organizing senior portraits and winning football games against The Northern Star were easily solved. More importantly, copy was somehow written; pictures were photographed, selected and "cropped", and layouts were drawn up, and Valhalla '78 finally went to press. The yearbook crew went out selling candy bars and patron ads to reduce the cost of the 1978 Valhalla. Advisor Mr. Warren Moore and editor Linda Stange attempted to take charge of this young team of sometimes hard-working seniors. It took many hours of difficult work before, during, and after school to produce the finished product — Valhalla '78.

Star Staff Brightens Northern

Despite a few problems, the Northern Star, under the brilliant supervision of Mr. David Baker, had a shining year. The main "issue" was lack of funds, but the staff overcame this obstacle by holding a subscription drive, a candy sale, and a basketball game. The Star's stars were Tami Chambers, Business Manager; Kim Moir, Feature Editor; Mike Anft, News Editor; and Laura Burkhardt, Sports Editor. Although only four members of the staff had previous journalistic experience, the Star staff managed to live up to their commitment to the students of Northern and maintain their reputation for excellence. As usual, the Star informed the faculty and students of a wide variety of issues pertaining to school life and problems faced daily by young people. Everything from extended days, SAT scores, Homecoming, measles vaccine, sports, parental problems and interracial dating were explored.

S.G.A. Leads the Way

Under the superb guidance of Mr. Peter Lapetina and with the assistance of Mr. Barry Woolf, the Student Government Association started the year in style. After two weeks of preparation, President, Angie Riviera; Vice-Presidents, Denise Bradfield, April Bond, Peggy Peters, and Laura Taschenberg; Secretary, Trish St. Clair and Treasurer, Chris Watts presented a slide show orientation program and gave a guided tour of the building to help the families of new students become familiar with Northern. Between senate meetings and city and state legislative programs the S.G.A. took part in bigger and better things. In late November Peggy Peters and Chris Watts represented Northern at an education rally in City Hall plaza. As the Christmas season approached, the S.G.A. held a successful collection of toys and can goods for the less fortunate. Soon after the completion of this project, plans were made to assist with the March of Dimes Walk-a-thon. Again this year the S.G.A. supported the Red Cross Blood Program enabling the students and their families to receive blood when necessary. Another successful year ended for the S.G.A. with their participation in awards night and graduation.

Viking Gridders Share "B" Title

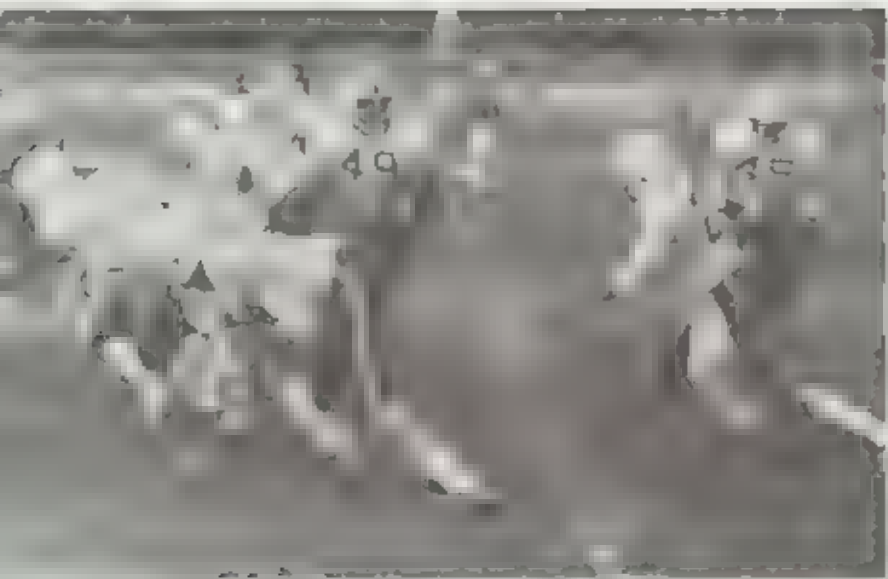

Northern's Varsity Football team, led by head coach Lon Russ and Assistant Coaches Joe Voskuhl, Donald Haas, and Fred White, scratched and clawed their way to a five and two conference record. Their five and two record was sufficient for a share of the "MSA B Conference" title. Their overall record, however, was six wins and four losses, two of which were to Westminster and Cambridge. The highlights of the season included an opening game fourteen to six victory over Randallstown, and an exciting Homecoming victory over Mervo by a score of six to zero. The team's strong-point was their defense led by Richard Szukiewicz, an All-Metro selection, and by Brian Martin. In addition to Martin and Szukiewicz, the team was filled with other individual talents such as quarterback Kevin Green, runningback Johnny Kees, lineman Kevin Rivers, and the Unsung Hero Wayne Hill, who also plays the line. Despite the loss of a good many first string players to graduation, the coaches are very optimistic about a winning season next year when several standout Junior Varsity players move up to the varsity.

J.V. Gridders Win Four

This year's Viking Junior Varsity football team, coached by John Foreman and Bill Kubovitz, didn't fare as well as the Varsity squad. They did, however, have a winning season as they finished with a four and three record. Led by quarterback Harry Malecki and running backs Anthony Hightower and Devan Trent, the offense was able to generate some points and outscore their opponents by almost two to one. The defense, however, which allowed only six points in the first four games and had three shutouts, seemed to weaken during the second half of the season and gave up forty four points in the remaining three games. Some of the outstanding junior varsity players expected to join the varsity squad next year include linemen Kevin Benn and Joe Henson who along with Malecki, Hightower, Trent and a few others should supply a good nucleus of talent for next year's Varsity team.

Varsity Soccer Squad Scores Ten Victories

This year, the viking varsity soccer team, under the direction of coach Manny Werner, finished the r season with an impressive overall record of ten victories and only four defeats. The squad finished with their winningest season ever, improving last year's record by three more wins and ending up in second place behind Friends and Park, who tied for first. The offensive line, led by forwards, Vince Raymond and Dean Toskes, and wings, Gary "Goose" Toskes and Dave Voelker, connected for a total of forty four goals, a new Northern record. The team's strong point was its outstanding defensive unit. The defense, led by Scott Watkins in goal and fullbacks Jim Snier, Mark Supik, Rudy Digiacinto and John Abe gave up a stingy twenty one goals in fifteen games. Fullback John Abe gained recognition when he was voted to the All-Metro team as an honorable mention selection. Next year, the team will feel the impact when a large contingent of seniors, led by Danny Wisniewski, Gary "Goose" Toskes, Vince Raymond and Rudy Digiacinto, leave the squad.

This year the Northern Junior varsity soccer team, under the direction of coach Larry Alsied, ended their season with a disappointing record of four wins and nine losses and narrowly escaped the MSA B conference cellar. The four wins were scored against the squads from Southern, Mervo, Severn, and Spalding. The team's biggest problem all season long was a lack of offense, as they managed to score only fifteen goals in thirteen games. The outstanding offensive players were Chris Ward at wing, and John Biasucci, and Dominic Bieneman at forward. The team was outscored by a better than two to one margin as they gave up a total of thirty-four goals to their opponents. The Junior Varsity booters suffered eight defeats in a row and were shut out five times in a row. The defense had problems and Coach Alsied continuously switched players in an attempt to find the right combination. All in all, it was a long season for the junior varsity booters.

Netwomen Have Winning Season

The Girls' tennis team, under the leadership of Mr. David Baker, had a fair season with an overall record of three wins, two defeats and two ties. Coach Baker blamed the record partly on the lack of court space at Northern. Because of a large turnout, he had anticipated a better season. Three quarters of last year's team returned, including the top two players, Becky Whitney and Grace Johnson. Most of the team's starters, however, were relatively inexperienced at tennis. Mr. Baker felt that the team improved rapidly as a result of intense physical training. Two outstanding players who should return next year are Roselyn Pines and Melody Squire. Coach Baker feels these girls were almost as good as his senior players, which may prove a comfort next season when only half of this year's squad will be returning.

Girls Swim Away

Brenda Breeden smiles after a hard race

This year, the girls' swim team had one of the best seasons ever posted by a group of Northern swimmers. Miss Patricia Nickols coached the team to an overall record of seven wins and three losses. The team was tied for second and then went to the individual finals, where they scored two hundred and thirty-nine points. There were a total of thirteen ribbons won by Northern swimmers: one first place, four second place, four third place, and four fourth place. The team placed a strong second in the finals. The schedule this year differed from last year in that the team faced each opponent twice. Some of the outstanding swimmers were Michele Bassler, breastroker; Carole Ehrlinger, freestyler; Edie McPherson and Brenda Breeden, butterflyers; Lisa Moore and Robin Ashton backstrokers; and Ann Hersey swimming in all categories. The team feels they will return next year with an even stronger squad despite the loss of five key senior swimmers.

Cross Country Runs Into Rough Times

This year's viking cross country team ran into difficulty throughout the season. The main problem faced by the squad was lack of participation. In the beginning, the team consisted of four runners, but by mid-season the team built up their number to nine. The other teams, however, were at least twice as large as ours. The greatest assets to the squad were Arnold Shipman, Carey Johnson, Dwayne Johnson, and Bill Day. Other contributing talents were Bob Brendle, John Schmidt, Joe Thompson, Bob Fonte, and Valerie Jones. Even though the runners tried their best to overcome the opposing teams, the squad lost every meet. In the last four meets there were three runners who came in the top five, but the Vikes lost the meets as the other runners finished low. Despite the squad's record, their dedication was unlimited. For practice every day the team ran Mt. Pleasant Golf Course to improve themselves. Cross Country may not seem like a rough sport, but it is. The squad ran ten miles a day. To end up in the top five runners of a race, one had to run three miles in under nineteen minutes. Coach Joe Lutz feels next year is going to be one of Northern's best because many Juniors are returning. Mr. Lutz especially awaits the return of his outstanding runners Carey Johnson and Dwayne Johnson.

Volleyers Win Seven

This year, the girls' volleyball team did well under the coaching of Miss Gwynette Proctor as they won seven and lost seven. Their victories were over the squads from Eastern, Forest Park, Carver, and Walbrook. Although only one varsity player returned this year, eight junior varsity spikers joined the squad. Some of the outstanding players were Bonita Bush, a hitter; Shavel Ruff and Toni Rice, setters; also Michele Sparks and Trelinda Jones, the two top servers. Miss Proctor feels all of the girls were highly skilled. With only one senior on the team this year, there will be twelve members returning next year. If seven wins was a lucky number for the team this year they hope to be twice as lucky next year and win all fourteen games.

Gymnasts Caught Off Balance

This year's girls' gymnastics team placed a weak seventh in the city-wide competition. Miss Patrice Nickols coached the girls through a long and difficult season. The squad posted an overall record of one win and seven defeats. Coach Nickols feels the team's problems were a direct result of a lack of participants. About twenty-five girls tried out, but only five stayed to make the squad. The backbone of the team was Ava McMahon who performed in all of the four events; the uneven parallel bars, the balance beam, vaulting, and floor exercise. Also competing in the balance beam and floor exercise were Lisa Baker and Jerrilyn Bishop. Miss Nickols was especially impressed with Lisa who had no previous gymnastic experience. Teresa Charles was recognized as the squad's main vaulter with Pam Whitzel competing in the uneven parallel bars, balance beam and vaulting events. Although the team was caught off balance this year, it is hoped they will get back into the swing next year.

Girls Shoot It Up

The women of the Northern basketball team have again proven themselves to be an excellent squad. Under their coach Miss Gwynette Proctor, the team completed a fine season and tied for second place in their conference. The team's overall record was eight wins and four losses. Some of the outstanding players included Debbie Palmer and Bonita Bush, who were selected for the Baltimore City Women's All-Star Basketball team. Sharon Johnson was named to all Tournament team, during the Christmas tournament at U.M.B.C. The other outstanding player was the only senior on the team, Yvonne Mosley, who was noted for her tremendous rebounding power. Miss Proctor felt especially proud of the job her team turned in considering it was such an inexperienced squad. She also felt that the team managers were a tremendous asset to the squad.

Matmen Floored By Tough Opponents

Northern 1978 varsity wrestling squad went down for quite a few counts this year as they ended a disappointing season winning only one match out of ten. The grapplers started the season on a dismal note dropping a 51 to 15 decision to Lake Clifton and ended this season by being mauled 50 to 15 by Cardinal Gibbons. Their lone win came when they defeated Lutheran by a 48 to 12 margin. There were, though, some strong individual performances. One member of the team, Mike Gossett, did advance to the M.S.A. individual quarter-finals. According to head coach Joe Voskuhl, Scott Stainbrook was the most improved wrestler on the team. He and Tim McFall ended their season with only two losses each. These three players, along with two ninth graders, Ed Benny and Jim Wyche, will be returning next year. With the experience they've gained this season, these five should form a strong nucleus for next year's squad.

Viking Swimmers Flounder

This year's varsity swim team suffered a disappointing season, as it accumulated thirteen consecutive defeats. Due to a poor turnout, the varsity team had problems just trying to fill the positions in their meets. Another reason for the dismal season was their tough schedule. Northern's swimmers had to face such perennial toughies, as Loyola, Gilman, and Poly. Northern's varsity team is looking forward to next season when they will have the benefit of several good swimmers. The junior varsity swimmers did much better than the varsity, winning four out of their nine meets. Their two outstanding swimmers were Chuck Grubb, the team captain, and John Inglefritz. These two and their teammates led the junior varsity to a third place finish in the MSA "B" conference. On the whole, both varsity and junior varsity swimmers gave their utmost this season and are looking forward to a better season next year.

Hoopsters Win a Few

This year's varsity basketball team had a season of ups and downs. One of the highlights of the season was winning this year's Christmas Tournament at U.M.B.C. by defeating Parkville and Archbishop Curley. The vikings also did well out of their own conference, defeating all their non-conference opponents except Loyola. In the rough M.S.A. "A" conference, however, the Northern netmen could win only 2 of their 12 encounters, as the team posted an overall record of just 8 wins against 11 defeats. The Vikes did have some strong individual efforts. Barry Catlett, the team's leading scorer averaging 22 points a game, was an honorable mention selection to the All M.S.A. team and was named to the All-Tournament team. Kenny Barber, the team's second leading scorer averaging 15 points a game, was Most Valuable Player in the Christmas Tournament. Another outstanding contributor to the Viking effort was Stuart McCoy who averaged ten rebounds and five blocked shots a game. Although the netmen had to be disappointed in their overall record it must be remembered that they were playing in a league that has come to be known as one of the toughest basketball leagues in the nation

J.V. Hoopsters Win Eleven

This year's junior varsity basketball team started off their season in fine form as they defeated Forest Park 51-40, and ran Patterson off the court by a lop-sided 72-44 margin. The squad continued their winning ways early in the season and rolled up an early record of seven and one. The team faltered just a bit down the stretch, however, as they dropped their last two games and ended their season with an impressive record of eleven and four. With Charles Pulliam, Greg Ervin, Benny Downs, Dwayne McGinnis and Spencer Wingate leading the way, the junior varsity hoopsters supplied coach Angelo Toutis with some potent offense. While the J.V. team will have to more or less start from scratch next season, the current crop of talented players should give the viking varsity hoop squad a strong team for next year.

Lacrosse Men Are Tripped Up

Faced with the difficult task of playing against some of the best teams in the area, the Viking stickmen suffered through a long and tough season as they won only one match, and placed last in the MSA "B" Conference. One of the biggest problems was merely suiting up enough players for each match. The squad totalled only eleven, and for the last few matches several J.V. players had to be used. Those players who did stick with the team practiced hard for Coach Lon Russ and assistant coach, Donald Wiegman and gave their all even when facing such difficult teams as McDonough and Friends. Outstanding individual performances were turned in by Scott Fritsche, the team's leading scorer, and by goalie, Andy Goss. Fritsche and Goss were chosen to Northern's Hall of Fame for their outstanding jobs. Also encouraging were the jobs turned in by two juniors, midfielder Derrick Carter and defenseman Bob Fonte. These two along with the other three juniors on the squad will supply a strong nucleus for next year's team.

Softball Women Win

Despite the disappointment of losing the championship to Western in the last inning, the varsity softball team and their new coach Joe Voskuhl gave Northern a season to be proud of. The team's regular season record was an impressive 9 and 1. Leading the way were Brenda Mattes with a .528 average and 29 stolen bases, Cathy Bailey with a .521 percentage, and Michelle Sparks who batted .480. The pitching was expertly handled by Valerie Megginson who chalked up all nine of the viking victories. Even more encouraging than the outstanding season is the fact that the entire team will return next year. Also returning next year will be the members of this year's hard-hitting team. The J.V. girls scored 135 runs for coach Pat Nichols and posted a 4 and 4 record. All-in-all, it was a good year for women's baseball at Northern.

Viking Nine Wins Few

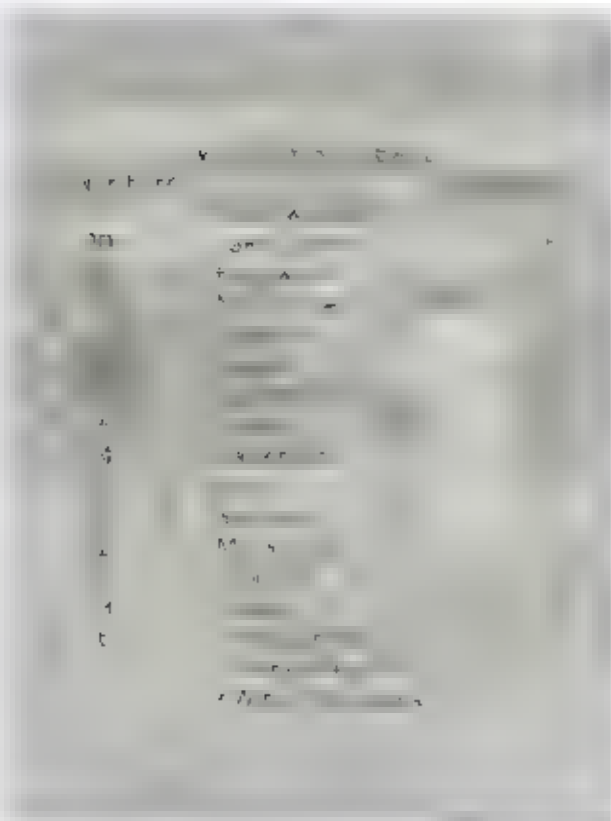

Plagued by injuries to two key players, Chuck Wills and James Trent, and several ineligibilities, the Viking varsity baseball squad struggled to a 2-13 record in the rough M.S.A. "A" conference. The highlight of the season was easily an early season 20-6 rout of Lake Clifton. The Vikings managed to generate good offense much of the season as Rick Sheeler and Renard Brown each hit well over .400. Dana Barnes, Chuch Nigrin, Darrell Smith and Bill Christner also helped supply some offense. The pitching and defense, however, did not hold up so well against such powerful teams as Poly, Loyola and Mt. St. Joe's. Because of the large number of players who became either injured or ineligible, coach Werner was forced to constantly shift players, which accounted at least in part for the team's defensive shortcomings. One painful lesson the varsity nine learned about baseball this season is that it takes more than runs to win consistently.

Junior Varsity Nine Drops Nine

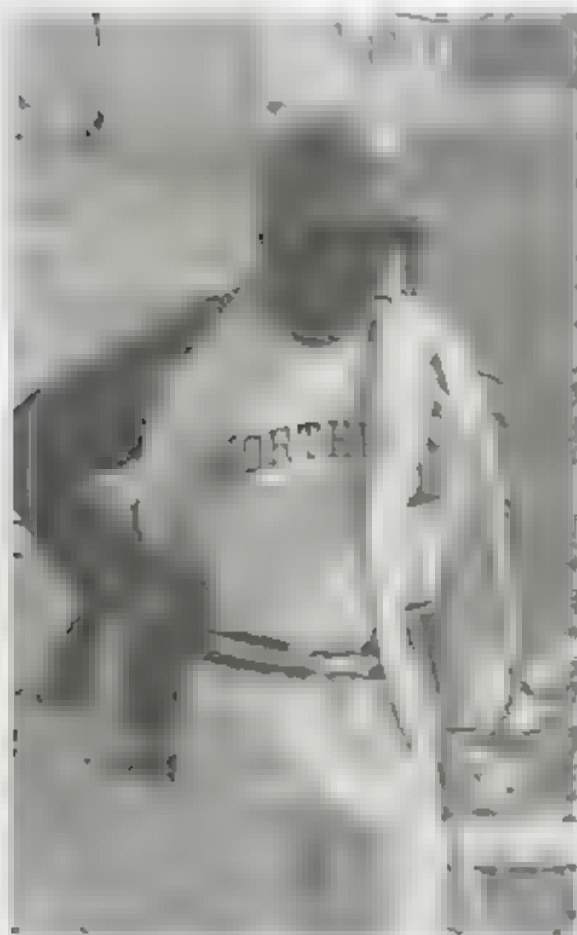

The 1978 Junior Varsity baseball team under coach Don Haas started off and ended their season well. The J.V. began its season with an 8-4 victory over Lake Clifton and ended the season with a 6-5 win over Poly. In between, however, the J.V. team suffered nine consecutive losses. The outstanding player on the team was Quinton Johnson, who led the Vikings with a .380 average. Another outstanding player was Joe Ho and who was both a pitcher and shortstop and who had the team's third highest batting average. Tom Potter who played outfield and caught was another of the team's leaders as he led the team in hits and had the second highest average on the squad. As Coach Haas looks forward to next year he has his sights set on the same kind of beginning and ending but a little different middle, one full of victories.

Tennis Team Nets Nine

When tennis time rolled around again, Viking sports fans who had suffered through mostly losing seasons knew that the chances for a winning season were excellent. And Northern's netmen under new coach Larry Alsied did come through with nine big victories, losing their only two matches and the championship to the same powerful Cardinal Gibbons team which last season had ended the Vikings incredible 47 game winning streak. Leading the team was junior Craig Powell who was undefeated in singles competition until the final match and the number two seed, senior Jerry Woods. Another bright tennis prospect was sophomore Brad Gordon. In doubles competition, Powell teamed successfully with senior Al Jefferson, Woods and Gordon also combined their doubles talent. The netmen have established a winning tradition and with both Powell and Gordon back next year, the Vikings can look forward to even more of a winning tradition in the future.

J.V. Gets Untracked; Varsity Gets Sidetracked

This track and field season was a very successful one for the junior varsity squad which won the M.S.A. "C" division title. The varsity, on the other hand, ran into some trouble and could win only two meets. The varsity team was led by Arnold Shipman, who was undefeated in the 400 meter event, and Devane Trent, who was undefeated in the 200 meters. Trent also handled the pole vaulting chores, along with Kevin Benn, who cleared ten feet. Other outstanding individuals included Tony Green, who hurled the discus 115 feet and Darrin Barnes, who was undefeated in the 110 meter hurdles. Also starring for half the season were Redmond White and Conrad Jackson. The track team was large at first, but by season's end, several players had quit or were dismissed from the squad. The J.V. team, which had smoother running, should combine with the returning varsity players to make next year a promising one for track and field.

Girls Fail to Get Untracked

The '78 Girls track squad ran into some stiff competition. After eeking out a one point victory in their first meet, the girls dropped their next five and finished with a lowly one and five record. Although the girls worked long and hard for Coach Debbie Stevens, the competition from such schools as Lake Clifton, Northwestern and Western proved to be overwhelming. Some outstanding performances were turned in along the way. One of the top performers was senior Yvonne Mosley who was chosen to Northern's Hall of Fame in recognition of her outstanding job. Another standout was junior Pat Milbourne, the team's best middle distance runner as well as the team's best high jumper. With Pat Milbourne among the talented returnees next year, the track girls stand a good chance of getting off on the right track in '79.

Despite having only one returning player, Northern's badminton team had a creditable season. Under the coaching of Miss Gwynette Proctor, the girls placed eighth in the city standings with seven wins and eight defeats. Coach Proctor felt that the team was just beginning to play up to its full potential near the end of the season. The two outstanding players on this year's team were Roxanne Berry and Grace Johnson who were the most consistent, reliable and conscientious players on the squad according to coach Proctor. Roxanne Berry played doubles with Lori Johnson, while Grace Johnson competed in singles matches. Yolanda Parker was cited by Miss Proctor as being the most improved player on the team. With Yolanda among the nine team members returning next year, there is much reason to be optimistic about the prospects of a winning season.

Even the hot air of Northern students wasn't enough for some balloons

Sophomores Move Onward and Upward

On Wednesday, May 3rd, the sophomores had their day as they held a T-shirt day and sponsored a balloon ascension. T-shirts in class colors of green and yellow were seen throughout the building as the Class of '80 displayed its spirit. The day's other event — the balloon ascension — was sponsored by the Class of '80, but was open to the entire school. During the tenth period, all students who had purchased balloons were dismissed to assemble on the athletic field, with the assistance of the class advisors, Mrs. Bayne, Mrs. Rook, and Mrs. Tuck, and the class officers, the balloons were ready to go. On signal, all of the balloons were released, creating a colorful spectacle that probably surprised Northern's neighbors. The event promised to bring a financial reward to those students whose balloons travelled the farthest. The day also brought a financial reward to the sophomore class who sponsored the event and its main fund raiser, as well as the additional "reward" of a good time for all who participated.

Junior Rings Come in Handy

March 15th was a very special day for the class of '79. After weeks of waiting, Leavens' representative, Mr. David Moerschbacher, along with class advisors, Mrs. Brenda Johnson and Mr. Steven Blizzard, distributed the new rings to the impatient juniors. Excited juniors spent the day showing their rings to friends and teachers. These special rings came in a variety of styles, such as the traditional Northern ring of a cut green stone set in yellow gold. Other styles included a viking stone, cut stone, or a smooth stone, set in white gold, yellow gold, or duralite. This day gave teachers a chance to show their patience as they survived all the talking and ring turning in class. Each junior tried to get his ring turned seventy-nine times, but saved the last turn for the senior prom. For the class of '79, receiving their rings was the first visible step to becoming the senior class of Northern High School.

'79 Has Its Night

The outstanding event of the year for the juniors was their prom, which was held on Friday, April Twenty-first, from eight to twelve-thirty. Class of '79 advisors Mrs. Brenda Johnson and Mr. Steve Blizzard, along with the officers, greeted the arriving juniors at the door of Martin's Eudowood. Juniors dressed in bright spring-colored gowns, tuxedos and suits anticipated the hot buffet that was served for an hour during the prom. After the juniors and their dates chowed down, they were ready for some dancing. The couples danced the night away to the sounds of Midnight Sun and Beginnings. The highlight of the evening was "the balloon burst" in which 200 black and yellow balloons with "The Class of '79" printed on them fell upon the unsuspecting juniors who were slow dancing to their theme song "Always and Forever." Another special element of the prom was the favors, which were '79 stickpins for the girls and leather key chains for the guys. The junior prom finally came to an end but the memories will last at least until the senior prom.

Vikings Flee Cold for Sun and Fun

November 26th was a fun and exciting experience for the forty one seniors and their chaperones Mr. and Mrs. Doak, Mr. and Mrs. Voskuhl, Mr. and Mrs. Lutz, and Ms. Velten and Mrs. Zang. This lucky group of vikings and advisors flew to Disney World for a Senior fling. The seniors first visited Sea World, with its famed porpoises and water life attractions. Many of the Northerners stopped to see the show of Shamu the killer whale. The seniors spent Sunday and Monday sight seeing through Disney World, and riding through the Haunted House and Space Mountain, and skimming across a lake on speedboats. At night, they could watch the magical electric parade with Mickey Mouse and his friends. On Tuesday, the Northerners were free to shop, sight-see or swim in the hotel pool. The next day, the seniors returned to a rainy Baltimore with thoughts of oranges and sunny Florida still on their minds.

'78 Gets Close at Its Prom

Thursday evening, May 18th, marked one of the biggest events of the senior year — the senior prom. Over three-hundred couples arrived at Martin's West prepared for a big evening. The prom goers stepped out in style as the girls wore some of the fanciest gowns in town, and the guys — and one girl — wore a variety of snazzy tuxes. The night's events began at 6:30 with a receiving line and the introduction of the class officers and advisors. Then it was time to fuel up for the long evening of dancing ahead with a formal sit-down dinner backed up by a light disco. The prom's theme was "The Closer I Get To You" and as the evening progressed the prom couples got closer as they danced to the continuous music of Hollins Ferry and Black Myca. The dancing and partying went on late into the night and early into the morning. At twelve-thirty it was time for the prom goers to head out to parties, Ocean City weekends, and all-night revelry.

Vikings Sail Off Into the Night

The last week of school for seniors brought with it many exciting events. Among the most anticipated was the moonlight cruise which was held on Tuesday, May 23rd from 8:30 to 11:30. Sailing seniors boarded the Port Welcome at the Constellation dock in the inner harbor for a night of cruising. Class advisors, Joe Lutz, JoAnn Velten and Joe Voskuhl greeted the seniors with a warm welcome and placed leis around their necks. Below deck, Brandy supplied the music that kept seniors rocking throughout the evening. Refreshments could be purchased to help cool off the overheated dancers. One unscheduled event turned out to be a rainstorm, which lasted most of the evening. Not even the rain, however, could dampen the "Night Fever" spirit as seniors and their dates still went above deck to try to see a few stars or a glimpse of the moon. When the Port Welcome pulled back in at 11:30, many of the couples went off to continue their evening elsewhere and to contemplate the other exciting and upcoming events.

'78's Best Earn Awards

On May 24, proud parents, students, and faculty filled the auditorium for the annual awards night. Students received departmental awards, scholarships, and service awards. Tanya Gilmore, class president, welcomed the group and Denise Bradfield introduced Mr. Paul Gorman of the regional office. After Mr. Gorman's speech and a choral selection, the awards were presented by Mr. Doak. A highlight of the night was when Mrs. Emily Beckwith received a medal, citation, and check from The Manufacturing Chemists Association for being among the Top 8 chemistry teachers in the country. Laura Taschenberg won various departmental awards, the Class of '77 Scholarship and the National Science Camp award. Scholarships were awarded to Kevin Carter, Diane Rice, Peggy Zimmerman, Myong Kim and Jin Jun Ro, by the Alumni Association, Denise Bradfield and Jeff Borleis by The American Legion; Jin Jun Ro by The Kiwanis Club; and Mary Alexander by The Sons of the American Revolution. Jeff Borleis won The Superintendent's Service Award. Peggy McLeod and Kevin Strempek won PSTA scholarships; Jin Jun Ro and Denise Bradfield won David Weiglein awards, Eileen Urquhart was awarded a Baltimore City Scholarship, and Kevin Carter earned The Malcom Johnson Jr. Scholarship. Jeff Borleis, Bindu Sood, Denise Bradfield, Steve Amole, Pat Gunther, Jane Weber, and Peggy Peters, who donated over 350 hours of their time to Northern, received awards ranging from pins to trophies. After the awards, the band played two enjoyable selections and accompanied the recessional. For everyone who participated, this was a night that would be treasured as one of the best memories of Northern.

'78 Swings at Fling

The final social event of the year for seniors — the senior luncheon — was held on Friday, May 26th, from 10 to 3. This occasion produced mixed emotions, for it was the last time seniors would be together as a class until graduation. Advisors Joe Lutz, Joe Voskuhl and JoAnn Velten gave out garters and paper vests to the arriving class. Noise makers and blue and yellow balloons added to the party atmosphere. Even the administration and invited teachers wore party hats. Monopoly supplied the music that seniors danced to before and after the buffet. The meal consisted of roast beef, chicken, pizza, subs, and ice cream for dessert. After the buffet, presents were given to the class officers by the advisors, to Mr. Doak by the class of '78, and to the advisors by the class of '78. Kevin Strempek did a sketch of each advisor, and these sketches were also presented at this time. As the day ended, the favor — the traditional mug — and a copy of the senior edition of the Northern Star were given to each senior. Every one left smiling because they knew they would all meet again at graduation.

The Last Challenge: Commencement '78

The class of '78 officially ended its stay at Northern on Monday, June twelfth at the Civic Center as it became the eleventh graduating class. After the formal recommendation of the class by Dr. John Gist, deputy superintendent of schools, Mr. Doak, assisted by the other administrators and by regional superintendent Mr. Boyse Mosley, presented the diplomas and congratulated the new graduates amid a brief confetti storm. Special congratulations were given to the honors graduates, led by valedictorian Laura Taschenberg and Salutatorian Carole Gentile. After closing remarks by Mr. Doak, a benediction by Reverend H. Franklin Miller, and the recessional, the new graduates left the civic center. As the students spilled into the street, some were happy it was over, and many were simply relieved. For most of the graduates there would be the five year reunion to look forward to and some good memories to look back on.

IT'S A TIGER TERRITORY

An aerial, black and white photograph of a city at night. The city is built on a peninsula or near a large body of water. Numerous lights from buildings and streets are visible, creating a bright, glowing pattern against the dark landscape. The lights reflect on the water's surface, which occupies the lower half of the image. The overall scene conveys a sense of urban development and modernity.

The Class
With
Class

We have met the final challenge — the Class of '78 has come to an end

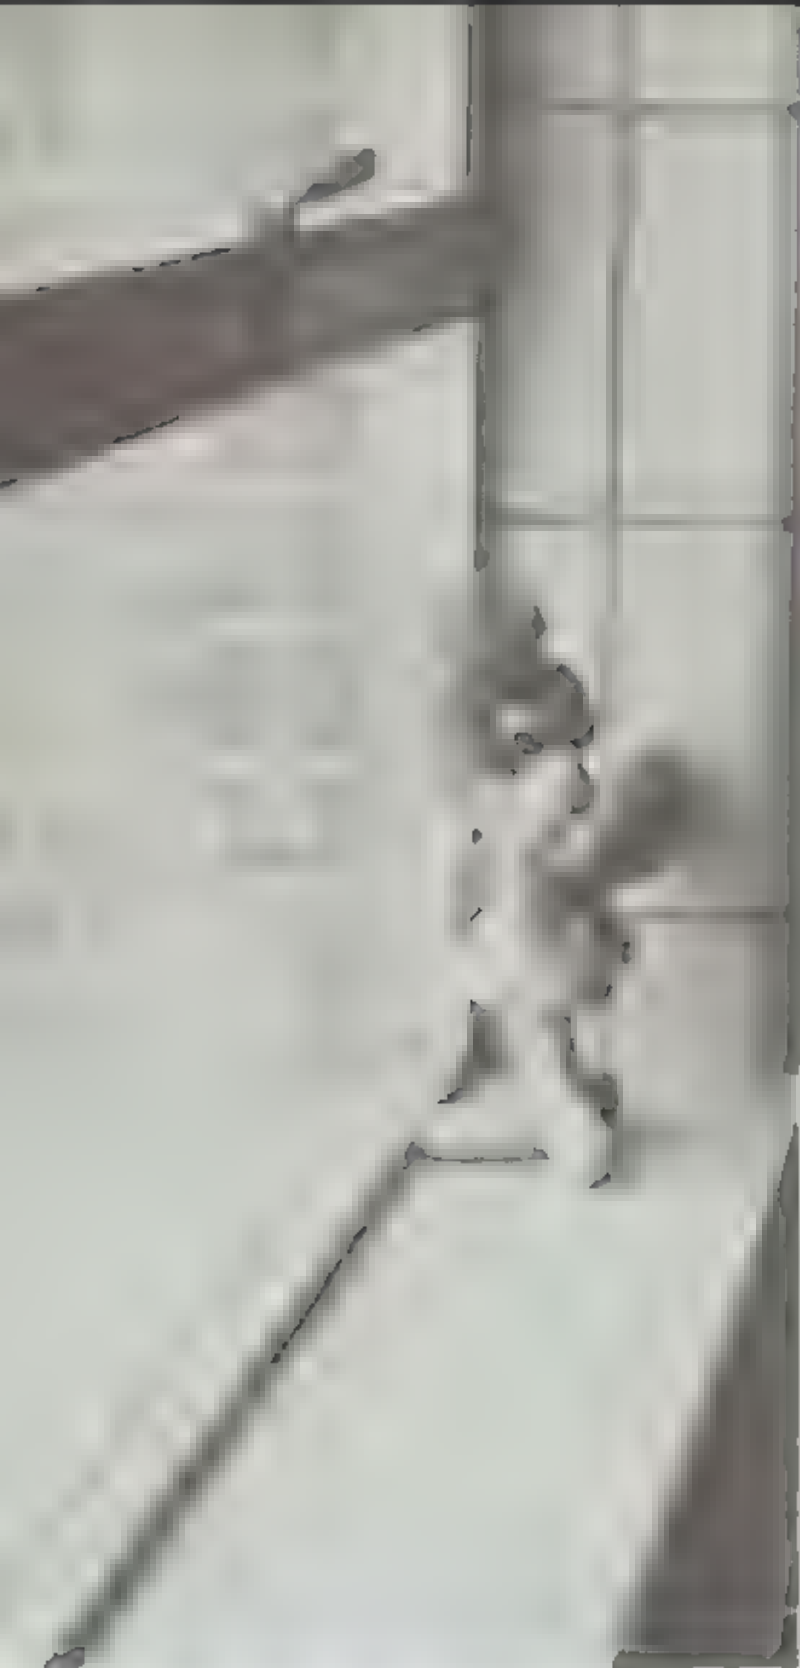

We have developed some new perspectives on life
We have gained many things, but we also sense that we have lost something

I've looked at life from both sides now,
From win and lose, and still somehow
It's life's illusions I recall,
I really don't know life at all

Joni Mitchell
"Both Sides Now"

Amid the celebrating, we pause and realize that many of our paths will take us in different directions

Now we seek a newer world. We contemplate the world outside of Northern High School — a world of new challenges that will somehow be met, just as we met the challenges of the last few years.

"Roads go ever ever on
Under cloud and under star,
Yet feet that wandering have gone
Turn at last to home afar."

J. R. R. Tolkien,
The Hobbit
